Mayor’s Foreword

The establishment of the City Planning Commission is a major milestone in eThekwini’s developmental agenda. After months of careful selection, consultation and negotiation we are happy that these men and women who are experts and professionals in their different fields have agreed to serve on the Commission. Our developmental agenda is driven by the country’s development blueprint, the National Development Plan and the Provincial Growth and Development Strategy. In order to ensure that the City’s plans are aligned to these guiding documents Council decided to appoint our own Planning Commission to guide our planning processes and to ensure their alignment to national goals. We believe that the establishment of this Commission has come at the right time as our City is on the verge of implementing some of major projects, among them the Dig out Port expansion and other SIP 2 projects, the Integrated Rapid Public Transport Network (IRPTN), Dube Trade Port Industrial Development Zone (IDZ), Cornubia Mixed Use Project and various Town Centre Regeneration projects. We are confident that we will benefit from the expertise, knowledge and experience of our commissioners in ensuring that the City derives maximum benefits from these projects and to ensure that their implementation leaves a lasting legacy for residents of the City. The Commission will also assist in fine-tuning our long term development framework and put eThekwini on a sound footing to become a smart city for the future. On behalf Council I wish to thank all the commissioners for accepting this calling and we look forward to working closely with them to achieve our vision of creating the most caring and liveable City in Africa by 2030.
The City Planning Commission is a significant step forward for the eThekwini Municipality. Its establishment will help guide the long term growth and development of our region in a strategic direction that will ensure that eThekwini becomes a world class city that competes globally. A city as big as ours faces numerous challenges, many of which are global challenges. Rapid urbanisation, poverty, unemployment, the provision of basic services are serious challenges facing all developing economies. However, in eThekwini we would like to think that as a City we are being proactive in addressing these issues and in time to come, our City will be Africa’s most caring and liveable City. Our engagement with other cities, through the United Cities and Local Government forum, our sister city programme, and other involvement in global forums, enables us to learn best practise from other cities and craft it to suit our needs locally. The expertise and professionalism of the commissioners selected, speaks for itself. Each commissioner was selected purposefully, to ensure that their expertise and knowledge will benefit the City in multiple ways. I am certainly excited by the establishment of this forum, and look forward to their collaboration and guidance that will take the City forward in achieving our vision.
I am delighted and indeed honoured to be involved in this exciting new initiative – the first City Planning Commission to be established in the country. I welcome the bold decision by eThekwini Municipality to reach out to stakeholders throughout the city-region and engage them in helping to set priorities for the development of greater Durban and its citizens. The creation of the City Planning Commission coincides with growing recognition by national government of the importance of cities to the country's future - we are increasingly an urban society. What happens in our cities is fundamental to attaining the vision outlined in the Constitution of a productive, democratic, egalitarian and non-racial society. Cities tend to focus on the problems of poverty, inequality and environmental degradation, but they also offer the potential to deliver lasting solutions to these and other challenges. It is crucial, therefore, that we work hard to identify, advocate and strive to implement sound policies for the future of the City and its people. Given current economic and other uncertainties, this is a particularly opportune time to lift our sights beyond the immediate horizon and think hard about the desired long-term trajectory of the City.
Charting Sustainable Growth for Durban

Rationale for the Commission

The eThekwini Municipality adopted vision 2030, which says the Municipality will enjoy the reputation of being Africa’s most liveable and caring City, where all citizens live in harmony. In order to translate this vision into reality, the eThekwini Municipality leadership has decided to set up the City Planning Commission which will develop the City’s Long Term Growth and Development Strategy. This is considered in line with what was established by President Jacob Zuma, as leader of the national government in 2009, when he appointed the National Planning Commission which developed the 2030 National Development Plan.

The objective of crafting the City’s Long Term Development Plan, which will be beyond the 2030 vision, is to identify the key stakeholders who make up the citizenry, consult with them on their aspirations, identify constraints to growth and development and chart a path that has to be followed by the City leadership and administration in order to deliver a better equitable development programme.

Despite enormous transformation programmes, social and economic intervention programmes that have been implemented from 1994 to 2014, the City is still grappling with poverty, income inequality, high unemployment rate and uneven development, which contribute to some sectors of society being left out of development opportunities. The City’s Long Term Development Plan is expected to come up with intervention programmes that will reduce poverty, improve the rate of employment opportunities and leave a development legacy of inclusive integrated development solutions.

Provision of basic services has improved from that of a City catering for a minority of the population to that of a City catering for all its peoples. However, this creates a new set of challenges such as service delivery backlogs, limited funding for capital infrastructure programmes, influx of people from areas that are underdeveloped within eThekwini and areas from outside our boundaries seeking a better life.

In 1999, the eThekwini Municipality undertook a process of evaluating how investments should be carried out and what models should be put in place in order to unlock development constraints. Through the City Planning Commission, the City hopes to review the work that was done by the Best Practice City Commission of 1999 and recommend areas of improvement or new ways of doing things with an objective of improving the rate of investment in the eThekwini region.

The Dube Trade Port has been a catalyst for growth and development in the northern part of our City. Together with the King Shaka airport it is seen as a gateway to trade and tourism in the province. The City Planning Commission will forge a better future for the Province.

CREATING JOBS AND REDUCING POVERTY
Founding Terms of Reference

The overarching strategic objective of the City Planning Commission is therefore to act as an advisory think-tank to the leadership and administration of eThekwini Municipality aimed at propelling long-term, holistic and catalytic socio-economic development of Durban and its people. Long-term planning must ensure that high economic growth rates are achieved, linked with the creation of decent and sustainable jobs and economic prosperity. It should also be linked with an absolute reduction of poverty and inequities based on spatial, gender, income and racial differentiations. In particular, the City Planning Commission shall be responsible to carry out the following responsibilities, amongst others:

1. Advise Executive Committee, Council and the administration of eThekwini Municipality on the process and content of developing the City’s Long-Term Growth and Development Strategy (CLTGDS) which shall be aligned with the strategic objectives and targets of the National Development Plan and the Provincial Growth and Development Strategy. In this regard, more emphasis will be placed on the conceptualisation of specific, integrated action plans that need to be developed, co-ordinated and budgeted for at City level to ensure the realisation of national and provincial development objectives.

2. Guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration on strategies to address infrastructure backlogs in relation to human settlements, water, sanitation, electricity, roads and storm water, information communication and technology, public transport and social services. In particular, emphasis will be placed on the need for densification of human settlements along public transport and economic hubs.

3. Advise and guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration on how to push forward strategic and radical economic transformation agenda and to organize the formulation of comprehensive industrial policies, coordinate key issues in the development of major economic sectors such as maritime, modern logistics, petro-chemical, automotive, tourism, hotels and leisure, manufacturing, agriculture, bio-technology, renewable energy, financial services and the development of high-tech industries.

4. Guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration on the effective mechanisms that must be put in place to mobilise broader stakeholders’ participation in the process of developing the CLTGDS and influencing its content and spelling out the actions that each stakeholder needs to take to implement the strategy. In particular, focused and deliberate attention shall be paid to ensure that the views of the youth, women, people living with disabilities and other vulnerable groups are at the centre stage of the development process.

5. Guide the undertaking of research or studies to ensure that the formulation and updating of the CLTGDS is data-led. To achieve this, the City Planning Commission will collaborate with major universities, research institutions and other think-tanks within South Africa and across the globe to enrich its processes.

6. Monitor macroeconomic and social development trends and provide forecast warning and information guidance in terms of socio-economic and infrastructural performance, global and macro-economic factors which are likely to impact on City's planning processes.

7. Assist the Executive Committee, Council administration on the formulation of urban development policies and practices to guide the reconfiguration of the City’s spatial landscape and the implementation of urban renewal strategies and other place-based development interventions. In this regard, priority will be given to the development of frameworks to respond to the high velocity of urbanisation and migration and over-dependence of the populace on the state which is not only dangerous but also unsustainable.

8. Guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration on matters related to investment in rural areas, food security and sustainable livelihoods.

9. Guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration to organize the formulation of key strategies, plans and policies to address climate change and ensuring that the City undertakes relevant work in regard to the fulfilment of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change at the City level.

10. Advise and guide the Executive Committee, Council and administration on the formulation of human and social capital development policies aligned with national economic development policies and to organize the formulation of strategies, overall plans and annual plans of social development and to participate in the formulation of development policies with regard to population and family planning, science and technology, education, culture, health and civil administration and promotion of social cohesion and reconstruction. The broad objective is to ensure that there a big push towards making Durban people productive, innovative and to think out of the box to take advantage of all available opportunities.

11. Advise the Executive Committee, Council and the administration on proper branding, city competitiveness, cost of doing business and speedy processing of development applications and the removal of constraints on the way of development.

12. Develop resilient and sustainable implementation and monitoring and evaluation frameworks to meet the objectives of the National Development Plan and guide Council with regards to building a capable and people-centred developmental local government founded on the values of the Constitution, a caring society and anti-corruption.

13. To conduct an assessment of the recommendations in the Best Practice City Commission (BPCC 1999) report to determine the results and review investment performance in eThekwini since the adoption of the 1999 recommendations. Review the validity of the BPCC 1999 findings and recommendations that were made regarding the promotion and marketing of Durban to investors.

14. Based on the need for the City to look at itself through the eyes of investors,

- Examine the internal environment and culture towards investors
- Examine core capacities in Units involved with investors and determine areas needing improvement
- Manage processes more effectively and efficiently
- Examine the tools that the City has for investors and improve them

15. Benchmark eThekwini’s current investment practices against those found in other Cities in South Africa and abroad.

16. Revisit the ‘one stop shop’ services for investors and ensure that it has decision making abilities, treat large investments differently and better.

17. Investigate a form of institutional mechanism or special purpose vehicle as a resource and incentive and find other alternative bulk financing solutions.
